SQX – Meeting your security needs

In year 2006, SQX has acquired the Hong Kong Security Company License (License No.: 1227), to well position ourselves as a specialized distributor of surveillance products, and provide our customers peace of mind that SQX are following strict code of ethics and practice expected by professional security market, on design, support and maintenance of security system.

SQX well understands that, as the era of full digitalization of the surveillance system comes, effective deployment of advance information technologies to support the ever increasing demand from different sectors, becomes a challenge to everyone in the security and surveillance industry, end-user, contractor, installer and solution integrators, alike. SecuRex aims to provide professional consultation, support and services, to help our resellers to face this challenge together.

Over the past years, our resellers has chosen SQX's solution to suit end user's security need, in a wide range of vertical markets and districts.
